Traffic Triples On Ferries

—At Sidney

For every 100 passengers that entered Sidney from Anacortes during June of 1961, almost 300 entered in June, 1962.

During last month, 32,979 passengers arrived at the western terminus of the Sidney-Anacortes run. This represents an increase of 198 per cent over last year. The number of automobiles also showed a tremendous increase of 151 per cent, with a total of 7,766 arriving. For every four cars coming last year, there were 10 this year.

Of the 32,979 passengers this year, 30,273 were foreign, the remainder being Canadian. Of the automobiles, 7,261 were foreign.

Yacht traffic has also increased, with a total of 143 arriving at Sidney in June, and 137 leaving. Incoming foreign yachts totalled 95, and out-going, 80.

These figures are taken from a monthly report of the customs and excise branch of the department of national revenue.

No Need To Rezone It

Application for rezoning of property alongside Patricia Bay Highway at McDonald Park Road has been rejected by the department of municipal affairs. It was rejected for the sole reason that the property was already zoned in accordance with the request.

When the Royal Victoria Yacht Club sought the establishment of a marine "outstation" in the mudflats of Shoal Harbor application was made under the impression that it was otherwise zoned.

Dredging of the flats would provide moorings in a picturesque backwater in full view of the highway.

Flyers Defeat Bombers To Capture League Title

Central Saanich Flyers won the cup for the North and Central Saanich Little League by defeating the Deep Cove Bombers, 11-9, on Monday evening. Battery for the Monday evening. Battery for the Bickford and for the Bombers it was Ricky Pumble and Ricky Soles.

The two teams were playing for the cup in a best out of five series. The first game played for the championship was on Tuesday, July 3, when the Deep Cove team defeated the Flyers, 10-5. Battery for the Bombers in this game was Ricky Pumble and Craig Davidson and for the Flyers Floyd Blake and Dave Bickford.

The Flyers came back on Friday to defeat the Bombers, 20-10, and 13-3 on Sunday. Battery for the Flyers on Friday was Robert Johnstone and Dave Bickford and on Sunday, Jerry Tuttle and Jerry Russell was the Bombers battery on Friday with Jim Dukes, Jerry Russell (2) and Craig Davidson.

Swimming Classes Started Again At Auto Court Here

If sufficient interest is indicated, the Sidney Recreation Commission will sponsor a beginners' class for children who are non-swimmers under the age of 12 years. Classes will be held at the Craigville Motel swimming pool under the supervision of Mrs. Gordon, an instructor with the Red Cross Water Safety Services.

To cover the rental of the pool, a charge of $1 per child will be made for the 12 lessons. All other expenditures will be borne by the

Rezoning Approved

At a meeting of Sidney village council on Tuesday, application of J. C. Finn for the rezoning of two lots he owns on Third St. immediately north of the Bowdoin, from residential to "C" commercial was approved unanimously.

Prior to the council's decision, a public hearing was held in the village hall on Friday last when a number of submissions pro and con were heard. The meeting was presided over by Commissioner J. G. Mitchell.

Scenic Meeting Of Ferry Vessels

Waters around the Gulf Islands have attracted visitors from every part of the world for many years. There are few more attractive tourist sights than the Active Pass, where Mayne and Galiano Islands are separated by a narrow strip of water. The B.C. Government News cameraman caught the ferries, Sidney and Tsawwassen as they pass in Miner's Bay.—Photo courtesy Government News.

Council Accepts Offer Despite Dissident Vote

—For Marine Drive

After heated debate, Central Saanich council voted 4-1 Tuesday night in favor of purchasing a strip of land from G. A. Vantreight for the purpose of extending Welch Road as part of the Marine Drive project. In a letter to council, Mr. Vantreight offered to sell the 660 by 66-foot piece of land for $2,500.

Opposed to the purchase of the land was Councillor R. M. Lamont. He felt that by constructing this extension to Welch Road, council would be providing an access road to a proposed subdivision by Martindale Investments Ltd.

"It is not council's duty to construct access roads to subdivisions," said Councillor Lamont. "Subdividers are required to construct their own access roads to meet municipal requirements."

Reeve R. G. Lee replied that council was not building an access road.

"We are only interested in constructing our part of the proposed Marine Drive," he said, "and if by doing this it is beneficial to the subdivider that is all to the good."

"Just because it may benefit the subdivider doesn't mean we should change our plans. If we don't take this offer now, I don't think we will ever get it again," said the reeve.

Councillor Lamont reiterated his reasons for opposing the move.

"We are in the middle of an unfavorable triangle, and are acting in haste," he said.

"We are not acting in haste," replied the reeve. "This problem has been under discussion for over two years and we have been keeping Martindale Investments waiting for our decision on where the road will run for all this time."

Councillor Lamont added to his argument by pointing out that Mr. Vantreight had submitted a plan some time ago for subdividing some of his property in the same area.

"If we develop Welch Road now, it will also be providing an access road to this small subdivision," he said.

Councillor Lamont said he could not see why Marine Drive had to follow this route anyway. He felt that the drive could turn from Welch to Martindale, and then to Truxton Road. Reeve Lee said that this would result in purple lands which the Capital Region Planning Board is trying to eliminate on the Marine Drive.

Big Crowd For Launching On Friday

Over $90,000 of cruiser slid into the water on Friday evening when a large crowd at Philbrook's Boatworks, Shoal Harbor, watched the launching of Speedlith.

For the boatworks it was the culmination of five months' work. For Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Olson, of Victoria, it was the realization of a long nurtured dream.

The new vessel was on display prior to the launching and hundreds of visitors looked it over. At one time there was a steady movement of visitors from the cruiser until it took on the aspect of a screen farce where a second and invisible entrance is permitting an unending flow of persons.

The broad-beamed cruiser of 47 feet length is equipped with every convenience in its galley, large lounge and two staterooms. Designed by Edward Monk, of Seattle, it is the ultimate in modern pleasure craft.

Warm tribute was paid by yachtmen present for the launching to the boatworks which built the cruiser.

The vessel was named by Mrs. Olson as she took the water.

Refreshments were served following the launching, when Mr. and Mrs. Olson spoke briefly as well as Harold McGregor and Pat Dunn.

There Is Nothing Wrong!

The Review is apparently short on mathematics.

When Elsie Worthington prepared a report last week on the progress of Salt Spring Island students learning mathematics by the Cuisenaire system, she introduced her subject with an equation.

The equation as it was written was $4x2 + \frac{1}{2}x4 \cdot (3+1)$. Unfortunately, The Review was less mathematically inclined and the equation appeared $4x2(\frac{1}{2}x4) \cdot (3+1)$. The correct answer of 6 referred to the former style.

The writer of the story is perfectly able to calculate such problems. It was the typographical staff of The Review which reached a wrong number.

Stump Fire Is Target Of Crews

In face of a spate of emergency calls during the past week in Sidney, only one was in respect of a fire.

On Sunday afternoon Sidney and North Saanich Volunteer Fire Department was called out to a fire in the woods at Patricia Bay Highway and McTavish Road.

Two stumps were blazing and attacked by the firemen. No indication was found of the cause of the blaze.

Reminders of the calls during the week were in respect of the emergency ambulance operated by the firemen.

NEW MACHINE ARRIVES HERE

New soft ice cream machine arrived at Sidney Dairy Bar this week and it will be placed in operation as soon as possible. The new installation will round out the popular services of the business. Proprietors Stan and Don Watling hope to have the machine operative by this week end.

AT GULF ISLANDS DISTRICT

TRUSTEES PROTEST MINISTER'S STATEMENT ON TAXES

Protest of trustees of Gulf Islands School District at the increasing tax burden over the years compared with a progressively decreasing government grant was answered with a assurance that the spiral was due to an excessive cost of operation.

The trustees have protested again. The new communication addressed to Education Minister L. K. Peterson, points out that the trustees are being blamed for circumstances beyond their control. The letter is published in full below.

In reply to your letter purporting to explain the school tax situation in District No. 64 (Gulf Islands) and containing what could be inference of extravagance on the part of the school board, let me make it plain to you and the taxpayers that as a school board we do not have control of the situation.

We have no powers with regard to the assessment of the area. Your government alone sets this and so initiates or detains the production of a mill.

We have no powers in setting the equalization rate, but your government does, and may manipulate this for whatever reasons you as a government think right.

We have no powers in setting what you describe as the basic education cost which in no case meets the actual cost.

By exerting these three basic authorities you have placed the Gulf Islands School District in the position of actually paying 75 per cent of the basic education cost and receiving from the provincial government only 22 per cent or 18 per cent of the total budget.

Another increase of assessment by a little over one-fifth of the taxable value will obliterate "government grant" entirely.

That we have not practiced extravagance is shown by your own figures. If the average school district exists and if the word "average" is at all pertinent to the matter, we could in no way be classed as average. The average school district as you explained most already tax two mills over the equalization to meet costs. By our very geographical make-up we are probably the most "unaverage" school district in the province.

With two separate schools all divided by water, we naturally have a higher teacher-pupil ratio; a higher transportation and boarding allowance; a higher buildings and grounds upkeep expense; a higher sports equipment cost; a higher library and teach-

Two Deaths In Two Days On Highway

—Driver Dies At Wheel

Two people died on Patricia Bay Highway in as many days this week.

On Monday evening police departments from two centres were called to the scene of a fatal accident at Keating and two ambulances attended.

On Monday evening, Mrs. Genevieve Bartleman, West Saanich Indian Reserve, was killed when the car in which she was riding left the highway one-half mile north of Telegraph Road in Central Saanich.

Taken to St. Joseph's Hospital in Victoria with undetermined head injuries was Virginia Joe, East Saanich Indian Reserve, the driver of the car. Mrs. Sarah Aleck of North Bend, Wash., was taken to Rest Haven Hospital suffering from extensive bruises. Both are in fair condition.

The fourth occupant of the car, Pearl Genevieve Wilson, 7742 Patricia Bay Highway, was uninjured. The accident occurred about 8.30 p.m.

The second death on the busy highway took place north of Sidney, opposite Sterne's Garage, on Tuesday morning. Arthur Gordon Manson, Victoria, died at the wheel when returning to Victoria from the Swartz Bay ferry terminal. His death was attributed to a heart attack. Mr. Manson was driving a Pacific Stage Lines bus with no passengers aboard.

The heavy bus veered off the highway out of control and crashed into the embankment running alongside the road. The underside of the bus was heavily damaged. Mr. Manson had been a bus driver for the past 39 years, and for many years he drove on the Victoria-Sidney route. He was 59 years of age.

An accident on Friday evening resulted in a broken arm and chest injuries for George William Provins of North Surrey, B.C., when his car crashed into a tamping roller being used on the Patricia Bay Highway diversion project.

Mr. Provins was driving south on the diversion when he apparently failed to notice detour signs which divert traffic west on Weiler Ave.

The automobile skidded approximately 200 feet before colliding with the tamping roller which was parked on the uncompleted southern section of the highway project. There were no passengers in the car which was written off as a total wreck.

Swimming Commences On Island

Children's swimming classes will be started immediately by Salt Spring Island Recreation Commission with Mrs. Dennis Deacon as instructor, assisted by mothers of children taking part.

Classes, to be held at Deacon's beach on Sunset Drive, will start with afternoon lessons on July 12 to 15 from 2 p.m. to 3 p.m., and will be continued July 25 to Aug. 1, at times allowed by tides. Cost will be $3 for a single child and $2.50 for two or more children in the same family, plus a nominal charge for transportation.

Further information may be obtained from Mrs. Deacon, Ganges 201K or from Mrs. V. Bishop, 201X.

Junction Is Scene Of Major Upheaval On Highway Here

Nightmare of road works developed on Patricia Bay Highway south of McTavish Road this week as construction crews ripped out the existing road to provide the new multiple junction.

Traffic is slowed down at Bazan Bay Road to pass through a section of unsurfaced road which continues as far as McTavish Road. Traffic to Lochside Drive was cut off this week as construction equipment occupied the only section of Lochside remaining intact.

The area is to be widened to permit of a junction of Patricia Bay Highway, the old Patricia Bay Highway, Lochside Drive and McTavish Road.

Equipment brought from the airport project of Dawson, Wade in use by contractors, McPhail Construction, of Richmond.

The section of new highway linking the junction with Patricia Bay Highway and Weiler Ave. is being levelled and filled at the same time.

Simultaneously, Lochside Drive is being surfaced to finish the project which straightened out the sharp jog in this thoroughfare.

"Contrary Mary" Leaving Sunny
B.C. For Spicy Orient Breezes
Japan, Hong Kong And Colombo

By MADELEINE TILL

It would be sensible to stay here during our gloriously sunny B.C. summers and visit warmer climes during our gloriously wet winters. But, being like contrary Mary, I choose to do things the other way round. In a little more than a week I shall wing my way to Japan, Hong Kong and Colombo. At the moment it doesn't seem possible, the house is in its customary state of sweet disorder—only more so—and I haven't begun to pack.

The great problem when flying is to decide what NOT to take. Forty-four pounds—the suitcase weighs nine pounds—is precious little. Clothes for the tropics don't weigh much, but when one changes twice and sometimes three times a day, one realizes the truth in the saying that many a mickle makes a muckle. At any rate, I have bought a whale of a handbag with pockets inside and flaps outside, and there will be the flight bag, and that's all.

TAKARAZUKA

My last brief visit to Japan only whetted my appetite for more. Katsuko and Teruko, friends since my schooldays in England, have invited me to stay at their home in Takarazuka—a delightful place name. Roll the word several times round your tongue and you can almost taste it, a flavor that is oriental, exotic and exciting. Takarazuka!

Katzuko tells me it is part of "old" Japan, in contrast to modern, bustling Tokyo. There will be pagodas to visit and millions of steps to climb. My knees quake at the thought of trying to sit on my heels. The Japanese sink to the floor gracefully and silently, no sound of cracking knee joints to mar the performance. I hope and expect there will be chairs in my friends' home, as they are a family who lived for many years in Europe.

I shall have to get used to kicking off my shoes on entering the house, and learn how to shuffle in slippers without losing them. I must remember to wash outside the bath and get in when I am clean. I can't tell you about Japanese toilets as I am afraid it

TWO SPICY
COMEDIES
AT GEM

A comedy of crooks and dental students that ought to transform the most stern of countenances is to be shown at the Gem Theatre in Sidney, July 12 to 14.

"Dentist in the Chair" stars Kenneth Connor, Bob Monkhouse, Eric Barker and Peggy Cummins. Another top comedy will be shown at the Gem after Dentist in the Chair, when Cecil Parker, James Robertson Justice, Ian Baner and Agnes Laurent star in "A French Mistress".

When the French teacher at Melbury public school resigns, the replacement turns out to be a mistress and not a master as the faculty had thought. Her effect on the school's rigidly masculine atmosphere is galvanizing. While her academic qualifications are adequate, her strictly non-academic attributes are exceptional.

Unique Collection
Viewed By
Sidney Residents

An interesting afternoon was spent by Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Dickenson, Fourth St., their niece, Miss Florence Dickenson of Winnipeg, and Mr. and Mrs. J. Wakefield, Third St., when they travelled to Four-Mile House, Island Highway, View Royal to visit Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Galbraith in their home which is 102 years old.

Mrs. Galbraith is a collector of shoes made of china, pottery, glass, metals, wood and even baked clay which are procured from all parts of the world. At the present time, Mrs. Galbraith has a collection of over 500 items and this is reported to be the largest known collection. In addition to shoes she has many other antiques of which she is able to give an interesting story.

Sitting in a large room with its hand-hewn beamed ceiling and treasures of the past, the guests enjoyed tea and at the same time heard a little history of the old inn and the surrounding territory.

Mr. Galbraith relates that when this building was auctioned a few years ago, they went to the sale as interested spectators, not as buyers. They ventured a bid, however, and before they realized it, the building was theirs.

Fortunately Mrs. Galbraith had always hoped to have a place large enough to display her collection to advantage. They decided to operate a tea room, also a catering service for weddings and other such gatherings—a complete change from their original plan in Sidney.

ENJOY

wouldn't pass the censor.

Hong Kong is a shoppers' paradise. Things are cheap as it is a duty-free port. But how can one buy in quantity when all one has is a miserable suitcase? Perhaps I shall gain weight suddenly in Hong Kong. I wonder how many extra layers of clothes I can endure in the heat? Yes, H stands for Hong Kong and for heat. I have burning memories of that city, of me walking along the arcades gazing at stores filled with silks, satins, carvings, embroidery, then retreating to an icy, air-conditioned hotel room to recover.

I remember the imposing hotels and apartment blocks, the streets thronged with cars, London double-decker buses, and I also remember the wretched shacks of the refugees from China. Most oriental cities are cities of violent contrasts, but of those I have seen, I think Hong Kong is the "mostest."

Hong Kong to Colombo is just a matter of hours, I can't tell you exactly, because of the difference in time. I leave at 11 a.m. and reach Colombo at 5.10 p.m. the same day. At that time on July 26 I hope to see my family welcome me at Katunayake.

AL AT ONCE

We shall drive 20 miles to Colombo where there will be a reunion dinner at one of the hotels. Naturally, we shall all talk at once and try to catch up on everything that has happened since my last visit. All the things that one doesn't put into letters.

There will be "spicy garlic smells" raised by the luscious Ceylon curries, and in Kandy I shall have "the sunshine an' the palm trees an' the tinkly temple bells."

All right, pinch me somebody! Is this really going to happen or am I dreaming?

OUT OF THE MIXING BOWL

Come Weekly Editors

By MURIEL WILSON

"You never miss the water till the well runs dry" is an old saying. How true that we are usually unappreciative of our blessings until we lose them. Spring and now summer has been cold and cloudy with very little real warm sunshine . . . and how we miss and how we long for a nice hot summer day.

Because sunshine has been in short supply we groan and bewail the lack of it. We have forgotten all the fine days we took for granted with never a thought for the blessing of sunshine. It is nothing short of a miracle the difference sun makes. On a dull day you feel low and dispirited as spilled molasses but on a sunny morning you can bound out of bed with soaring spirits. You feel energetic enough to tackle the problems of the world single handed. What a lovely world . . . the bird song is sweeter, the flowers lovelier and the grass greener. The good lovely old sun is a lifter-upper.

We say with Walt Whitman "Give me the splendid silent sun, with all his beams full dazling." Yes, give us the sun and Heaven can wait.

AGREES WITH THEM
I am so glad that weeds are green . . . this dull weather must agree with them. Never have they grown so green and lush. If weeds were some bright color just think how they would show up our slothfulness in not keeping them cleared out. Their soft unobtrusive green, blends in nicely with the legitimate foliage and who but a very observant person would know they are there.

One key to painless gardening is to find out something you should have done two weeks ago after it is too late to do it. Gardening should be done on schedule . . . if the right moment is missed you have to leave that certain job until the right time comes around again 12 months hence. I really enjoy gardening postmortems.

I LIKE WEEKLIES
I think I could write a composition on why I like weekly newspapers. For one thing they are not full of blood and thunder. No frightening headlines blown up beyond their importance. Just friendly neighborly news with the milk of human kindness showing through where possible.

I like the friendly sharing of experiences and tips by readers and the little controversies batted back and forth in letters to the editor. I like the down to earth editorials in a weekly newspaper pointing out local issues and problems by a friendly local editor. No ivory tower man this, sitting aloof and unapproachable with his door closed to the man on the street.

Readers like the open door of weekly newspapers, where they can personally deliver their pats and pans on editorial policy. I guess I just like weekly newspapers.

CENTRAL SAANICH

BRENTWOOD

John Kelly, son of Mrs. Connie Kelly, Stelly's Cross Road, is spending a few weeks holiday with his family. John is in the United States Air Force and has been in Chicago for about six months. He will be leaving next week for another base in Oregon where he will be stationed for future months.

Rev. L. Hooper officiated at the wedding of Gerald Lesley Fagan of Brentwood Bay and Adele Margo Banks, last Saturday evening at Fairfield United Church. The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Banks of Victoria was given in marriage by her father. Mr. and Mrs. Fagan are on a motor tour through the interior of the province for their honeymoon. On their return they will make their home at 7060 West Saanich Road.

George Williams of Clark Road is spending a few weeks holiday in Nova Scotia, visiting with relatives and friends.

L. Otto of Brentwood Auto Court is a patient at St. Joseph's Hospital where he has undergone surgery.

Mr. and Mrs. Ron France and family, from North Vancouver, are spending a week on Clark Road. Mrs. France is well known in the district as Jean Williams as she resided with her parents on Clark Road until the time of her marriage. She now has four children.

You hear a lot of versions of tea-making by our American neighbors but I heard a new one the other day. I think this one takes the prize. . . . It happened in a restaurant in Seattle. My friend ordered a pot of tea and when she poured it, a pale tepid liquid came out of the spout. Calling the waitress back she asked what had happened to the tea. . . . "It is very, very weak and only lukewarm". The girl was very apologetic and said quite seriously "I'm sorry. I guess I didn't let the tap run long enough."

Long Terms Noted By Company

Six Vancouver Island Shell dealers were guests of Shell Oil Company at a dealer emblem awards luncheon this week at the Empress Hotel, Victoria. The dealers represented 145 years of friendly business relationship with the company.

J. P. Secord, Western Division manager, presented the dealers with plaques and lapel emblems honouring associations ranging from 10 to 35 years.

Among those receiving awards were: Frank Hunt, Sidney (10 years); Harry Gilbert, Brentwood Bay, (35 years).

And even these same three mills would be unnecessary if we received 50 per cent of your basic education cost.

Your restraint in refraining from answering the protest contained in our letter is puzzling, i.e., protesting most strongly the consistent tendency of the government to reduce the government's contribution to the cost of education in this school district, both in amount and percentage, over the last five years.

We know it was not your intention to disparage this board. At a time when we have a large referendum to place before our taxpayers for a capital expense of $162,350.00, or a further four-

We do earnestly place before you a request for further consideration of our unique position, for regardless of what you may have heard, we are not a wealthy population. And some relief from the adverse results of your assessment and equalization policies would be welcomed.

BANK NAMES WINNERS TO RECEIVE SCHOLARSHIPS

Two young B.C. students have been awarded $1,500 Bank of Montreal Canada Centennial Scholarships for third-year university studies, the bank has announced.

The youngsters, included among 16 of the most brilliant students of their generation in all of Canada, are: Terence Chew Leung, son of Mr. and Mrs. Chew Chung Leung, of Victoria, a science student at Victoria College; and Pat M. Ellis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Ellis, Vancouver, who is studying arts subjects at U.B.C. in Vancouver.

The latest honors follow similar awards to the two B.C. youngsters last year and first-year scholarships of $750 in 1960.

Their awards are among 16 for all of Canada and represent major distinctions for the B.C. students, the bank announcement said.

School Band Is Extolled When Visiting Vancouver

By VIVIAN COWAN

"What a shame their parents couldn't have seen them, for I've never seen a better behaved group of young people. I was very proud of them, and they looked so smart too, in their band blazers."

So went the report of the one chaperone who accompanied 23 members of the North Saanich Secondary School Band to Vancouver last week. Twenty-three of the 30-band members have registered for a three-week course at the University of British Columbia, and will be billeted at the Acadia Camp on the U.B.C. campus while taking the Band and Orchestra Workshop.

The students themselves greatly appreciate all the help and encouragement he gives them, and have worked hard so they could take part in this course. The general feeling of the band for their leader could probably be summed up in a remark overheard aboard the ferry: "We're all going to work like heck so Mr. Magee can be really proud of us".

BACK TO THE WRONG END

TRAFFIC problems have been paramount in Sidney and North Saanich since the construction of the Patricia Bay Highway diversion was commenced last fall. From the outset traffic in the secondary roads of the district suffered from an outbreak of pot-holes as the heavy dump trucks reached the highway route. With the opening of the section alongside the airport a new traffic hazard was introduced as a heavy burden of traffic was diverted along Weiler Ave.

Village movement was in a large part disrupted by this new route for traffic linking Victoria and Vancouver.

This week sees the biggest of all disruptions and apparently the biggest of all blunders. In the face of the heaviest ferry traffic on record the section of highway between McTavish Road and Bazan Bay Road is now being torn apart to provide the junction of the old and the new.

Last year we were solemnly assured by M.P. George Chatterton that the target for completion of the highway was December 1, 1961. Last Christmas we learned that the deadline had been extended to early spring. In early spring we learned that the new road would not be opened until May. These delays were an annoyance to the users of the highway and to the residents of the district. They meant little until it became apparent that the highway was destined to be unfinished by the summer.

With this final phase under construction it is patent that the earlier disruptions were insignificant. The highway is now in an absurd condition. With a heavy flow of traffic each way to link with an hourly Swartz Bay ferry and six record loads daily aboard the Anacortes ferry, the traffic is required to negotiate a long section of highway devoid of gravel or black top, studded with equipment and heavy trucks.

It is not often that the federal government is engaged in the construction of roads here. If this is an example of conditions prevailing when the senior government does enter into the highway business, let us be thankful that these occasions are rare.

The sorry story of Patricia Bay Highway diversion has been one of delay, disruption and indecision. Fortunately is the foreign traveller who passes over the road but once en route to Victoria and thence back home. Less fortunate is the regular traveller between Victoria and Vancouver who faces this farcical situation regularly. Most ill-favored of all is the unfortunate resident who ploughs through the shambles day in and day out, stuck with it to the bitter end.

RECORD FIGURES

OPTIMISTIC observers last year forecast an increase in the flow of tourists to Vancouver Island as a result of the World Fair in Seattle. Motels and hotels catering to holiday visitors were alerted and in many communities a scheme was instituted whereby any overflow of tourists would be accommodated in private homes volunteering their space.

The need for such accommodation here has not arisen. The season opened about a month earlier than usual, The Review was told by one operator, but the burden of tourists has not been such as to impose an excessive burden on available commercial accommodation.

This passive state of tourism has been vastly exceeded in one direction.

The Washington State Ferries, operating into Sidney from Anacortes, reports a heavier load of passengers than has ever been carried in its history. In June the total of passengers arriving at Sidney stood at more than 30,000. This means that every day during June there were 1,000 visitors coming into Sidney from this one ferry service alone. It also means that logically the figure can be expected to rise dramatically during the month of July which is the opening month of the summer holiday season.

Confidence in the future of the ferry link between the State of Washington and Vancouver Island was shown by the operators when they elected to institute a daily service here throughout the year. This year the operators have shown that their confidence was justified. There are now six daily sailings between the two ports in two countries, and those sailings are carrying an unprecedented number of visitors back and forth.

A NEW LOOK

FEW changes in the face of Sidney have made so great an effect as the widening of Beacon Ave. Introduced this spring, the widening program saw the north side of Beacon Ave. torn up and sidewalks removed. The sidewalks were reconstructed to a narrower width and the road resurfaced.

In such terms it is difficult to appreciate the change which has been wrought. Not only in parking, facilitated by the introduction of angle parking on both sides of the street, but the general picture of Beacon Ave. now shows a wider and a cleaner thoroughfare.

The new look of the main commercial centre of Sidney is a tribute to the council which sponsored the change.

A NEW VENTURE

FIRST business house of its kind opened in Sidney with little noise last week. It is the Duty-Free Store on Beacon Ave. at Patricia Bay Highway. After quietly showing its facilities and its wares to the village fathers and business houses of Sidney, the store went into operation on Dominion Day.

Catering only to visitors from other countries, the store handles merchandise from all parts of the world. It is the only store in the district which offers nothing to local residents.

Nevertheless, it represents a drawing card for the entire community inasmuch as it encourages tourists, particularly Americans, to visit Sidney and sample its wares.

The advertising undertaken by the new duty-free store is of benefit to every tourist establishment in the community. This store is putting Sidney on an ever wider map.

"Youngblood Hawke" by Herman Wouk. Doubleday, 783 pp.

F. G. Richards

It is possible that this book may well be selected as an instrument to prove that Wouk has done it again. There is no doubt but that his Caine Mutiny brought his name into sharp relief in every English-speaking country of the world and possibly many others.

The mutiny was a story woven around the greatest incident of the era, the Second World War. Unlike many books of the period, it elected to make a story within the war. In that book the events of the day were used as props for the story. The story was excellent.

In this instance the writer has selected a field of endeavor which is obviously familiar to him as he writes of the experiences of a young writer whose first story rises to a best seller and which places him in the public eye.

Youngblood Hawke is a natural writer whose every book is the publisher's dream. While he is not wearing himself out writing his next book, he is wearing himself out, making up for the time he has lost, in the fleshpots of New York. The story is that of his arrival in New York and his ensuing successes. It links the world of book publishing in the big city with the southern states where the writer started out and where his mother is still living in a small town dreaming of getting rich.

The two women who pass through Hawke's life are the lady he should have wed and the lady with whom he continued a long and enduring affair. They are drawn as the observer would see them and Hawke's behaviour is much as one would expect in real life.

And that is, generally, the story. Yet it has a style and a liveliness to it which is not contained in that summary. The writer has a command of his characters coupled with a facile use of English. There is a slowing down in the pace of the story about the middle of the book, but it noticeably picks up speed again to finish with an appropriate climax at a suitable pace. Other than the slight hiatus in the middle, there is nothing in the book which would deter the average reader from concluding its massive length.

There is only one feature which is outstanding for its lack of reason. From time to time the characters are cited as objecting to Jews or Jewishness. This is a jarring feature and has no place in a story by a Jew. He should not contribute, above all people, to this tendency towards anti-Semitism.—F.G.R.

VIEW ON MEDICARE PLAN

The following front-page appeal written by publisher S. N. Wynn of the Yorkton, Sask., weekly Enterprise, was published on June 27, on the eve of the introduction of the medicare scheme in Saskatchewan:

The responsibility of government is to manage the affairs of the people in accordance with the people's desires.

The government is elected to administer — not to dictate.

No government has the right to ignore the wishes of the people or to legislate away the freedom of the people.

The onus will be on the government if our doctors are forced to leave the province because of discriminatory legislation; if government legislation results in the loss of a loved one.

Delay the plan before disaster and unnecessary tragedy strikes. Amend legislation to insure the rights and freedoms of all individuals.

Think—lives depend on it! We too want a medical plan, but with our family doctor.

This message, in the form of a half-page paid advertisement, appeared in Tuesday's issue of the Leader-Post, Regina. It was sponsored by the "Keep Our Doctors Committee." It summarizes, in plain, straightforward language, the wishes of the vast majority of the people of Saskatchewan.

Premier Lloyd, in a province-wide radio address the same evening, made a valiant attempt to convince his listeners that there were valid reasons why the plan must be implemented on July 1. To those who have not given serious thought to the pros and cons of this issue his plausible appeal may have sounded reasonable.

After reading Dr. Houston's statement in this issue they will change their mind. Unlike those of the politicians who are attempting to force this plan upon an unwilling public Dr. Houston's reputation for honesty and integrity is above reproach. He is a dedicated practitioner of the healing arts and has only the welfare of his patients and fellow men at

Where The Fox Glove Bloometh ... On The Road To Cusheon Cove

By BEA HAMILTON

Down the beautiful road to the home of Mr. and Mrs. V. P. Saunders at Cusheon Cove, went a number of cars from different parts of Salt Spring Island on Friday evening. It was the community of Beaver Point again, at one of their old fashioned get-togethers, where new comers and old timers meet, eat and are merry.

It was a lovely, flower bedecked drive, twisting and turning under trees, down a narrow road lined with masses of pink, white and mauve fox gloves that have to be seen to be appreciated. Here and there a clump of tall spikes, then suddenly, one sees masses of the tallest, and biggest, spikes of a deep pinkish mauve—and white, and more and more, stretching all the way, lanked by ferns and May leaves, and delicate hare bells—and here and there, a tame bee, gathering honey from the blooms—and up the hills and down in the glens, the brave and lovely fox glove thrusts a tall spike up to take a look at the blue sky above, and to wave in the sunshine.

These same flowers are now at their best and can be seen all over the hills at Beaver Point, where they alone are left to bloom in peace by the wandering sheep and deer.

The animals know enough to leave well enough alone for the beautiful fox glove is digitalis—a splendid remedy for cardiac stimulant—but deadly if taken by animals or birds—even fish would die if they swallowed any—which isn't likely, as the fox glove grows in dry places—and fish don't.

In Scotland they call the plant by various names—in northern parts, they call it Dead man's bells; east, they call it Ladies' fingers or Wild Mercury and in the south of Scotland they call it just plain old Bloody Fingers! The Welsh are more polite—they call it Red Fingers . . . or more daintily, Elves' Gloves . . . and some call it Dogs' Fingers.

In Germany it's Thimbles or Fingerhut . . . and we call it Fox

Glove, but call it what you will—it is out of this world and any campers going to Saunders' for a holiday, are in for a treat the like of which no city could produce.

As an added bonus, one comes out on green fields to face the sea and the far flung Gulf Islands. Here and there, the Saunders' cabins nestle among the trees, and on the bluff overlooking the sea colorful chairs invite a person to sit a while and enjoy life at ease . . . tables and benches on natural rocky shelves or on the flat lawn . . . and a huge barbecue with grills and long handled kitchen forks and other utensils.

Here fishermen can slip out at dawn or in the evenings, and fish . . . they can then come in and have barbecued salmon or cod or bass and after that, no fish will ever taste the same again—unless it is barbecued fresh while out in the tangy sea air.

The road to Cusheon Cove is steep and narrow in places but as good as many of our government-made roads. This used to be the old Bullman road—and Mr. Saunders spent half a year on the old "ball and chain," making the road safe and accessible, and it's a credit to him—even Nature cooperates by her beauty, at least for June and July. A botanist (and scientist, I believe), John Parkinson, back in 1640, said of the brazen fox glove "It flowereth seldom before July, and the seeds ripeneth in August."

He was speaking of Europe—most likely. He didn't know our Salt Spring climate, for the fox glove bloometh thick lush June . . . now he's got my typewriter lisping.

They Need Three Men Appearing At Festival

By RALPH KENDALL

Folk-artistry is always a strong feature of the international festivals held in Vancouver and this year's representatives, which include the Bayanihan dancers from the Philippine Islands, Bunraku Theatre of Japan and the Salt Lake Mormon Tabernacle Choir, are no exception.

Bayanihan means "working together" and to prove it there are no star performers in this company whose dances are the result of many ethnic influences, over the centuries.

Fifteen musicians play a variety of instruments including a nose-flute and bamboo guitar, plus the usual array of percussive instruments. According to my information there is, " . . . one point in the show where male dancers don harnesses of coconut shells to create a dramatic sound effect as the shells collide."

There is, however, no indication what dramatic sound effects are created when dancers collide . . . but I can guess!

Appearing for the first time on this continent is the Bunraku Theatre whose artists enact classical Japanese tales through the medium of large dolls. Each doll requires three men to look after her . . . which is something like the dolls I've been taking out lately! The inscrutable east catches on fast to western ways.

Performance of folk-songs, as well as religious music, makes the Mormon choristers ethnic artists in their own right. But to me the most thrilling sound is when this great choir sings "The Battle Hymn of the Republic". There will be only two performances given in Vancouver, at the Queen Elizabeth Theatre on August 14 . . . and already there has been a great demand for tickets.

The ethics promise to be the most exciting visitors to this fifth festival and I look forward to seeing if they live up to their advance publicity.

within the bounds of probability that lives that might be saved if adequate hospital facilities were available will be sacrificed. Why? Why this unnecessary haste? Why the determination to foist this plan upon us before it has been sufficiently changed to ensure the co-operation of the doctors?

Without their co-operation it can never serve our people properly and the end result will be a deterioration in medical services and in the general health standards of our people.

" . . . Hallowed be thy name . . ."
—Matt. 6:9.

Respect is a quality that is sadly lacking in our present society. Children do not respect the property of others and few adults respect the rights of others.

Yet the place where we have fallen the most is in our treatment of our God; Father, Son and Holy Spirit. His name is not respected but abused in blasphemy or disbelieved.

His existence is doubted or ignored and His Word is not practiced by the majority. Yet how many glibly say: "Our Father which are in heaven, hallowed be thy name . . .", when they have no intention of honoring His name as they pray.

To keep the name of God hallowed we must first believe His Word. This would bring us to salvation for God says: "Ye must be born again . . . I am the way, the truth, and the life . . . for there is no other name under heaven, given among men, whereby we must be saved." If we neglect His salvation we thereby doubt His truthfulness and call Him a liar.

Further, to hallow His name we must respect His servants. His House, and His Word. That would include worship of Him. Were you at church this Sunday? Even if it is summertime? Follow out this thought and see if you really hallow His name—then live in accordance with His prayer.

ENTERTAINED BY PIANO RECITAL HERE

Piano pupils of Howard Vine gave a recital recently in St. Paul's United Church hall. Some 35 numbers were given, including four hand arrangements.

Ted Kerr, who was guest artist, gave two trumpet solos, the Thunderer and Beautiful Ohio.

Ted Clarke, on behalf of the parents and pupils, presented Mr. Vine with a leather wallet, bolo tie and shirt. Lunch was served by the mothers at close of recital.

Anyway, take a careful run down to Cusheon Cove. Just turn a little way along Beaver Point Road—there's a sign not too easily seen—and it's about a mile and a half up and down and round about, and about half way there, you find what I've been writing about—fox gloves.

A whole avenue of tall six foot or more spikes—purple and whites—an artist's paradise. You'd better goeth before this month is out because they bloometh right merrily and are at their best now.

MORE ABOUT COUNCIL

When the vote was taken, Councilors A. Vickers, P. F. Warren, C. W. Mollard and A. K. Hemstreet voted in favor of purchasing the land from Mr. Vantreight according to his offer. Councilor T. G. Michell was absent from the meeting, but had previously signified his support of the move. Councilor Lamont cast the only dissident vote.

The opposing councillor later told The Review that he was "not happy with it one bit." He said that by constructing the road, council was providing access for two subdivisions—those of Martindale Investments and Mr. Vantreight, using the proposed Marine Drive as an excuse.

master bedroom—a utility room, an attached carport with storage room, and, no less, a matching dog house.

POST AND BEAM The oil-heated home also has a fireplace. It is post-and-beam construction and the interior is a fine combination of woods, brick, plaster and glass.

It is being built this year again by Beedie Construction Company Ltd., at 5367 Kingsway, Vancouver.

The house will be tastefully and expertly furnished in everything from wall-to-wall carpets and drapes by the T. Eaton Company. It will have all major appliances including a stove, washer and dryer.

After the fair the house will be moved to a choice lot in The Willows in Burnaby.

CHOICE OF PUPS As a special attraction the lucky winner will also get the choice from a registered litter of German Shepherd pups, offered by Guard Dog Securities, of Vancouver, to put in the dog house.

Every purchaser of a P.N.E. program stands to win this beautiful home, and the winner will be drawn Labor Day, September 3. Every day of the 14-day fair there will be a car draw.

FACE CHANGING WORLD

GANGES GRADUATES CARRY CANDLES TO SYMBOLIZE TORCH OF LEARNING

Six boys and girls formed the graduating class when Ganges senior secondary school graduation ceremonies were held in Mahon Hall on June 29.

Decorated in blue and silver by Student Council members, the old hall presented a dignified setting for the impressive ceremony. Attired in academic gowns, the teaching staff and special guests led the procession, and were followed by graduates, each bearing a lighted candle. Observing the custom of other years, the candles, symbolizing the torch of learning, were passed to grade 11, represented by Nancy Koyama and Wayne Sobor.

Mrs. F. Hepburn, mistress of ceremonies, in welcoming parents and friends of the young people, said the small square of light thrown by the candles will be carried into the hearts of the students from this immediate and intimate present into the ever-widening area of the challenging and unknown future.

Miss R. Oulton, vice-principal, introduced the graduating students, giving a brief history and future aspirations of each one. Lyn Akerman, former island May Queen, will train for practical nursing; Joan Bidwell, class valedictorian and scholarship winner plans to attend I.B.M. school; Ronald Bonar, senior athlete of the year, will enter vocational school; Jean Galbraith, 1962 May Day princess, plans to continue in commercial education; Susan Graham, described by Miss Oulton as a very good organizer, plans to train for kindergarten teaching; Donald Sharp, president of Student Council and winner of Legion L.A. bursary, will study physics at U.B.C.; Bruce Murakami, P.T.A. bursary winner, plans to enter medical school; Marilyn Parsons, successful home economics student through to grade 12 plans a banking career; Shane Heinekey, leader of House 1, will study engineering; Kathie Morrison, winner of P.T.A. bursary, will train as teacher of commerce; John Sturdy, winner of 1962 school oratorical contest, plans a career as journalist; John Money, whose home is on Saturna Island, will enter vocational school.

J. M. Evans, principal, paid warm tribute to the class. G. S. Humphreys, school board chairman, brought greetings from the board to the out-going students.

School Superintendent A. D. Jones, in extending greetings from Department of Education warned the graduates that they are facing a rapidly changing world and must take life seriously. From 1963 on, no more supplemental examination will be allowed, he said. There will be many restrictions, said Mr. Jones, and warned the students that they must steel themselves to work hard.

Farewell from the school was given by Fred Hanke, grade 11 student.

Dr. T. L. Jansch, guest speaker, impressed upon the graduates the need to think critically, and to acquire all the facts before forming judgment. He cited as an example the wave of public anxiety which followed large atomic explosions set off by the Russians, and recalled daily radiation fall-out measurement listed by newspapers.

Predictions of future calamities resulting from fallout, and other gloomy pronouncements created strong adverse public opinion, said Dr. Jansch.

Within the past two or three months, facts have been brought out by radiation authorities to show that such anxiety was not justified, and that danger of irradiation is not at present significant, he said.

Dr. Jansch reiterated the need to think critically and to gather facts before forming an opinion. He urged the graduates to use their opportunities wisely in this fast changing world, reminding them that in only a few years we have entered first the atomic age and are now entering the space age. He said the changing times

DINNER PRECEDES CEREMONIES

Prior to graduation exercises at Ganges recently, high school graduates, parents, teachers and special guests assembled for dinner at Harbour House.

Donald Sharp, president of Student Council was toastmaster for the occasion. Toast to the Queen was given by John Sturdy; to the teaching staff by John Money. Ronald Bonar replied to the toast to 1962 graduates given by grade 11 student, Cameron Cartwright.

The P.T.A. was thanked by Lyn Akerman on behalf of the students; I.O.D.E. and Royal Canadian Ladies' Auxiliary were thanked by Marilyn Parsons and Jean Galbraith, respectively. Last will and testament of the class was read by Bruce Murakami, and equally amusing prophecies were made by Shane Heinekey. Nostalgic "Remember When?" by Susan Graham was followed by a summation of the year's activities by Donald Sharp.

Mrs. Maud Purchase Dies After 17 Years On Pender

The late Mrs. Maud Purchase, who passed away en route to Lady Minto Hospital, Ganges, on July 6, was 88 years of age. She came to Canada from England and had been a resident of Pender Island for 17 years.

Mrs. Purchase is survived by three sons, Gordon Baker of Hamilton, Ont., Douglas Purchase, West Vancouver and Howard Purchase, North Vancouver. She leaves one daughter, Miss Joan Purchase, Pender Island.

Service was held at St. Stephen's Church, West Vancouver, on July 10.

Government Contributes $500 For New Roof

A cheque for $500 was received by the Beaver Point community towards the overall expense of putting a new tin roof on the hall. This was from the Hon. Earle C. Westwood's department of recreation and conservation, and is a welcome financial help as the roof cost over $1,000.

GALIANO

Mrs. Helen Nemeth, with sons, Chris and Eddy, from Vancouver, are staying at Mrs. M. E. Backland's.

Mr. and Mrs. B. Peyton and family are spending two weeks in Ken Sater's house. They recently purchased a lot from Ken.

Constable Pat Brenton is visiting his family on Salt Spring for a holiday before returning to the R.C.M.P. post at Cassiar, just below the Yukon border.

The raspberry tea, sponsored by the local Women's Institute, will be held on July 25 at the Fulford Hall. Besides the raspberry cake with whipped cream, entertainment will be supplied by the drama group from the Victoria W.I. This will be a short half-hour skit called Thin Ice. Home cooking and other items will be on sale.

Mrs. Weld and her son, Robin, are guests of Miss D. Anderson at Beaver Point.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Lacy, of Victoria, and their children spent the holiday week-end with their families at Fulford.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Johnson would like everyone who had anything to do with their recent golden wedding anniversary last month, to know that they appreciate and thank them wholeheartedly for all they did.

Mrs. V. Rathwell and her daughter, Margaret, from Kingston, Ont., are spending the summer with Mr. and Mrs. A. O. Lacy, Mrs. Rathwell's parents.

JUNE COOLER AT GANGES THIS YEAR

June this year was much cooler than June 1961, reported Howard Carlin, Ganges weather observer. Low of 41 degrees was recorded on June 3 and high of 78 degrees on June 30. Maximum and minimum mean temperatures were 67.2 and 48.6 degrees.

Last year's record showed a high of 85 and low of 45 degrees. Precipitation this year totalled .88 inches against .88 inches for last year. Mr. Carlin reported hail fell at the middle and end of the month in both years.

THE GULF ISLANDS

NORTH PENDER

Mr. and Mrs. J. Allan, of West Vancouver, have taken up residence at Otter Bay.

Mr. and Mrs. Gary Robinson and family have come from Dawson Creek for the summer.

should prove challenging and fascinating but warned the students they can only hope to succeed at the price of diligent work.

June List Covers 44 Patients

Lady Minto Gulf Islands Hospital reported 44 patients under care during June. Four of the number came from Fulford, five each from Mayne and Pender Islands, and one each from Saturna and Galiano Islands and Victoria. Two babies were born during the month.

Patient days for adults and children totalled 330 plus 12 for newborn. Two major and 32 minor operations were performed; 73 x-ray films examined; 14 electrocardiograms, eight blood transfusions and one fluoroscope were carried out.

Flowers from St. George's Church, and a pair of crutches from A. W. Wolfe-Milner are acknowledged.

SEVEN SACKS OF CLAMS CONSUMED

Seven sacks of clams and two sacks of oysters were eaten between 12 o'clock noon and 7 p.m. at the first clam bake of the season for Fulford on Monday, July 2. Jack Roland was in charge of the clam pit.

Although the affair was very successful, the members of the community said "Next year we will have a better one".

Mrs. A. House, Dave Slingsby, Mrs. M. Gyves, Miss V. Salliss, Bob Akerman and Jack Roland were in charge of various posts. The clam bake was held on the field and beach of Mr. and Mrs. W. Few, by their invitation.

GANGES FAMILY HAS 56 FOR BREAKFAST

Miss Lyn Akerman entertained the graduates and friends at an early breakfast after the graduation dance held at Ganges on Friday night.

"We had 56 young people for breakfast and managed to feed them all without too much fuss," says Lyn's father, Bob Akerman.

The young people had a wonderful night and returned home after the breakfast about eight o'clock that morning. Lyn has a family of 11 brothers and sisters so is used to big crowds.

JOAN BIDWELL VALEDICTORIAN

Miss Joan Bidwell, valedictorian of 1962 graduating class of Ganges senior secondary school, was chosen "citizen of the year" and presented with the coveted school citizenship shield at the recent graduation ceremonies.

Miss Bidwell, scholarship winner and leading academic student, in giving the valedictory spoke of the rising standards of education required for university entrance and any type of skilled work, and the need for graduates to meet life with courage, perseverance and wisdom. She paid tribute to the encouragement and help given by parents and teachers.

Strawberry Tea

Strawberry tea and garden party will be held in the grounds of Ganges United Church Manse, next to the church, on Friday, July 13, at 2.30 p.m.

Homebaking, cut flowers and flower arrangements will be sold. There will also be a contest for the best flower arrangement.

Retiring Teacher Honored

Retiring Salt Spring Island school teacher, Mrs. Jean de Macedo, was honored at the recent elementary school awards day when Mrs. A. McManus presented her with a gift from the P.T.A., also a beautiful arrangement of flowers from her pupils.

On an earlier occasion Mrs. de Macedo received a parting gift from the teaching staff. The popular grade two teacher came to Ganges school several years ago.

SOUTH PENDER

Miss Sybil Connery, of Vancouver, is at "Little Splash" for a week.

Mr. and Mrs. G. F. Parkyn, from Victoria, are at their summer cottage.

Inspector and Mrs. Kelly Irving, from Victoria, are guests of Mr. and Mrs. John Freeman.

Mrs. McKinnon's sister and a friend came over by plane from Bellingham for a day's visit.

Miss M. Bailey, from Vancouver, is spending two weeks at her new home.

Miss Edna Ladner and her mother, from Vancouver, are holidaying at her new home.

A "smorgasbord housewarming" was enjoyed by 24 guests on Saturday, July 7 at the "Beehive", home of the Misses Ladner and Bailey.

Fantastic Future Unfolding She Feels

Despite This Year's Emphasis On Past Achievements

By MADELEINE TILL

Nobody else will do it, so let us give ourselves a pat on the back. Don't you think we are bearing up rather well under the strain? Everyone likes to be noticed and applauded once in a while, but no one gives a hoot about us or what we do. Do we show that we are downhearted? Never! We carry our heads high and smile and smile through it all.

Perhaps you don't realize you are suffering. It is like hidden starvation. People eat the wrong things and become undernourished without knowing it. And we are starved of appreciation. By we, I mean you and I and anyone who is under 90.

You feel it now, don't you? The nose is such a sensitive organ, and I'm afraid our collective noses will stay out of joint until the end of the year and all the furor about Victoria's centenary is over.

LONGEVITY IN SIGHT?
Just think for a moment. Who is basking in the fierce light of publicity? Who is interviewed, written-up, and, for all I know, televised? Admitted, it is heartening to see old age enjoying an hour of triumph in an era when youth is the watchword, and "too old at 40" is a stop sign. We are not old enough to join the party because we can't recall events of the horse and buggy days.

Don't worry about it, our turn will come. With science discovering new marvels every day, it wouldn't surprise me if a good many of us were around in 2062.

It is not too early to plan for the second century now. Of course, there will be no lack of material. Newspapers, books and magazines will have accounts of the main events. Movies will also be a great help. Perhaps the city fathers would consider building a centennial museum to house articles and records of life in Victoria today. But personal impressions will surely be of interest to our descendants. We should write down the things we want to remember. No rummaging in the dusty attics of our minds for memories of 1962.

Think of meeting the people of tomorrow! I can hardly wait. . . "Yes, we really did crawl around the earth at 70 miles an hour in motor cars. . . And the jet planes you find so amusing were the last word in speed and comfort. . . off. Oh, you plutocrats! A mansion on Mars and a villa on Venus. Still, I can't blame you for wanting to get away from it all. Earth really is a sort of slum with its teeming millions. Frightfully non-U to live here, I know, but beggars can't be choosers.

"The most I can rise to is an occasional fortnight at one of those super-de luxe hotels on a space platform. I always go by the B.C. rockets, which leave every hour and are safe, speedy and economical. . ."

Tomorrow and tomorrow and tomorrow. Kalidasa said "Today well-lived makes every tomorrow a vision of hope."

So let us go about our business and live in the hope of a glorious hour in the limelight a hundred years from now. See you then, perhaps.

Bananas For Supper . . .

And Here's How To Cook Them

BANANA ANGEL CAKE

Two tablespoons sugar, ½ teaspoon pure vanilla extract, 1 cup heavy cream, 2 medium (1½ cups) bananas sliced. Angel Food Cake or Sponge Cake.

Combine sugar, pure vanilla extract and cream in a bowl. Beat with a rotary beater until it stands in soft peaks. Fold in sliced bananas. Serve over slices of angel cake or sponge cake.

Yield: Six servings.

BANANA STUFFING

One and one-half cups diced bananas, 1 teaspoon fresh lemon juice, 2 cups package prepared stuffing mix, 2 tablespoons butter or margarine, melted, ½ lb. sausage, 1 egg beaten, 4½ to 5 lb. ready-to-cook duck, giblet gravy.

Combine bananas, lemon juice, stuffing and butter or margarine.

Brown sausage and discard fat. Add to stuffing along with beaten egg. Mix thoroughly but lightly. Spoon into the crop and body cavity of a 4½ to 5-lb. duck. Close opening with skewers and lace tightly with strings. Place on a rack in a shallow pan. Bake in a preheated slow oven (325 degrees F.) two hours. Serve with giblet gravy.

Yield: Six servings.

GIBLET GRAVY

Place grizzard, heart, duck neck, 1½ cups water and 1 teaspoon salt, 1 small sliced onion, a sprig of fresh parsley and the tops from 1 rib of celery in a saucepan. Cover and cook 1 hour or until tender. Add duck liver and cook 15 minutes or until tender. Remove giblets from stock. Cut into small dice. Remove parsley and celery from stock and discard. Mix 2 tablespoons flour with ½ cup milk until smooth. Add to the stock along with diced giblets. Season to taste with salt and ground black pepper.

Yield: Two cups.

COCONUT BANANA SCALLOPS

Three medium bananas, 2 teaspoons fresh lemon juice, ½ cup shredded fresh coconut.

Cut bananas into chunks one-inch long. Roll in lemon juice and then in shredded coconut. Serve as an accompaniment to ham, pork, veal or poultry.

Yield: Six to eight servings.

CONVERSATION PIECE

Pear, Apple, Peach, Plum All Members Of Rosaceae Family

By DORIS LEEDHAM HOBBS

Roses and strawberries! What a lovely time of year this is! In the short season, I suppose, we all revel in Saanich berries, and feel sorry when only jam fruit is in the stores. What a lot we owe to the family of plants known as Rosaceae—the rose family.

Here are some of them: the pear, apple, peach, plum, damson, apricot, prune, plum, cherry, raspberry, loganberry, blackberry, as well as the less known medlar and almond.

And that is not all, may trees, crimson and white, rowan or mountain ash with its wealth of red berries, are trees of great beauty. The rowan tree has a very special place in old country folklore. In Scandinavian myth, the ash was the "Yggdrasil or world tree" from which man was made. It was supposed to have all sorts of powers—it could blight crops, cure warts, "Ashen tree, Ashen tree, pray buy these warts from me."

The rich clusters of rowan berries make a delicious jelly. Practically all members of the rose family are good to eat; the wild strawberry leaves when dried and infused or boiled are supposed to make a delicious tea; its berries make a superb jam, far superior to the usual home-made strawberry jam.

and haws into prominence, as it was found that they possessed large amounts of vitamin C. Here is a bit of folk lore hundreds of years old:

"The thorns and briars, vermillion-hue,

Now full of hips and haws are seen;

If village prophecies be true,
They prove that winter will be keen."

YOU HAVE A HAND IN THINGS CANADIAN

when you own Life Insurance

Surprising? Yes—but true. Like most people, you have probably thought of your life insurance as protection for your family—as a good way to save money regularly—as a valuable collateral if you need a loan for an emergency.

Actually, your life insurance dollars are more than an investment in your personal security and your family's. These dollars are also an investment in Canada. They stimulate growth and progress and help make this country a better place in which to live and work.

At this moment, 9 BILLION DOLLARS of life insurance savings are invested. THE LIFE INSURANCE COMPANIES IN CANADA

In important Canadian enterprises—through the purchase of bonds and stocks and through mortgages. These hard-working dollars are helping to finance great projects all over this country such as pipelines, shopping centres, bridges and highways, homes, apartment and office buildings, schools, factories, industrial plants and power developments. These investments create employment opportunities, too. The income from these investments benefits you directly by reducing the cost of life insurance to you and the 9 million other Canadian policyowners.

How High Are Those Mountains?

Writer Disputes Figures In New History

How high is a mountain? The answer to the question was offered within the pages of the attractive little history of Salt Spring Island published recently by E. V. (Woody) Fisher, of Ganges. Written by Eric A. Roberts, Salt Spring Island outlined the early days of the island's settlement. In passing it referred to the comparative heights of various Salt Spring Island mountains.

Bea Hamilton, at Fulford has taken issue with the book over these heights. Her comments on altitude are given below.

The mountains of Salt Spring

Island are not exactly erupting, but they're acting like Robert L. Stevenson's "My Shadow" — "he sometimes shoots up taller like an India rubber ball, and he sometimes gets so little, that there's none of him at all." And all because maps, men and books can't get together on this lofty subject!

For one thing, Mount Bruce is our highest mountain—not Mount Tuam as stated in Salt Spring Saga—(page 1, chapter 1). Mount Bruce tops all mountains at 2,329 ft., according to the report by Rev. F. W. Wilson in his book of 1895. But the map (Salt Spring Lands) shows Mount Bruce at 2,400 ft. a difference of 71 ft. since 1895—so much for that shadow!

As for Mount Tuam—Mr. Wilson has taken a jump from Mr. Wilson's 1,972 ft. in 1895, to the map's 1,983 ft. And Mr. Roberts' Salt Spring Saga has "made it shrink to where there's almost none of him at all"—he has it down for 1,940 ft! Lively doings up there in the mountain tops, aren't there?

And whilst we are on such an elevating subject, Mount Erskine is mapped at 1,428 ft., Mount Belcher at 1,400 ft. and here we go with another shadow! Mount Maxwell (or Mount Baynes) was listed at 1,953 by Rev. Mr. Wilson—and here the map has that old bluff down to a mere 1,811 ft. Shades of the mountains! There's more coming off here than foot-age!

And I'm one who would like to know what's what—I haven't finished Mr. Roberts' book yet, but it's good reading—(outside of his first boo-boo re Mount Tuam), he has taken the old history lightly—and is easy to read, as (far as I have delved into the pages...) it is interesting and the writer has gone straight to the point—and the print is good—the photos of Salt Spring Island have been evenly divided.

Marshall Sharp has done a fine job and the cover, with the old Maxwell barn and the wagon wheels, showing the turn of the century, and telling the story of pioneer days before the motors came, is a historical masterpiece... this will be a handy little book for visitors browsing amongst the Islands... and who's going to argue about a little thing like who's who amongst the Mountains? the sheep who graze over the ranges don't care and all the old timers KNOW all the history, so here's to the success of the Salt Spring Saga... and good luck along the mountain trails... to Mr. Roberts.—B.H.

Sail, gas or plain commercial fisherman, they all contribute to the summer dress of this district.

News From Sanscha

By VIVIAN COWAN

A feeling of relief, tempered with the satisfaction of a job well done, is general among the hard-working members of the community now that Sidney Day has again been hurdled.

Sandown Race Track, ideal for an affair of this type, was crowded with more than 2,000 people during the festivities that began about noon when the parade arrived from Sidney.

The platform was given over entirely to the many girls representing neighboring districts. Sooke, Laxton and Victoria sent their Queens and Princesses; Nina Holden, Miss Canada, and Clara Taylor, Dairy Princess of Canada, were part of the royal group that watched the coronation of Sidney's new princesses, Cathy Douma and Sharon Ridge, by the retiring princesses Shirley Kerr and Sharon Beswick, and Queen Barbara Erickson by retiring Queen Rolinda Orchard.

All the royal guests and their chaperones were entertained at lunch in the track tea-room, before the afternoon program.

Entertainment during the afternoon was light and varied, with go-cart races, and sports car events; Adeline Duncan's talented exhibition and a crowd-pleasing exhibition of authentic Indian dancing by three members of the Saanich Sun Dancers; for dog-lovers was the always popular demonstration by Michael Williams' trained dogs, and precision drills by the Sidney Drill team, who earlier in the day had formed a guard of honor for the royal guests.

The North Saanich Band, which prior to parade time had entertained the crowds on Beacon Ave. as they demonstrated their newly-acquired marching routine, provided band music before and during the program.

Scattered about the grounds were various well-patronized events. Instead of the expected fair rides, this year the children were treated to something different, for along with the popular pony rides, was a hayride to the miniature farm set up by the 4-H Clubs, go-cart rides, and ride around the race-track in Sidney's newest fire truck. Games and booths were popular, and food concessions, especially hamburgers and hot dogs sold out early. An attractive afternoon tea garden was operated by the band group, and two shows by the Grace Tuckey puppets attracted both youngsters and adults.

Two dances held during the week-end were most enjoyable, and if the final tally doesn't show a whopping profit, well at least everyone had a good time.

The dance on Saturday was a ship's dance, aboard the S.S. Sanscha, for the hall was decorated with scenic portholes and the stage transformed to a bridge looking out on a night sky complete with a golden moon and twinkling stars. Charlie Hunt's orchestra, in yacht-caps, provided the excellent music.

On Monday night was the Queen's Ball, presided over by Queen Barbara and her princesses, who made a spectacular entrance in a specially constructed throne, drawn by a powerful, if somewhat noisy, little machine. Special dances, prizes and good dance music by Winifred Steele and her Hi-Fi's was enjoyed by a crowd of around 200, mostly young people.

ROLLER SKATING INTRODUCED TO ISLANDERS

Welcome addition to recreational life on Salt Spring Island is the introduction of weekly roller skating in Fulford Hall by Salt Spring Island Lions Club.

The first session got underway last Saturday and will be continued each Saturday afternoon from 2 p.m. to 4 p.m. for children, and from 8 p.m. to 10.30 p.m. each Saturday evening for older groups.

Lions Club has purchased 150 pairs of skates for the venture. Admission prices, including use of skates are 25c for children under 12 (afternoons only) and 50c for older persons. Organ skating music will be supplied.

Jack Tomlinson and John Finnson are in charge of the project, assisted by other members of Lions Club.

I'm sure there are many small items that are not included here at this time, and I hope will come forth in the next few weeks, like those Susie names I missed on the curtains—those of Mrs. B. Andrews and Winnie Gardner—and I too am looking forward to finding out just how much money we did make.

Temperatures Down In June Despite Above-Average Sun

Weather in June had below average temperatures and precipitation and above average hours of sunshine and inches of evaporation, according to the Weather summary of the Experimental Farm, Saanichton.

The monthly mean temperature was 56.7 deg. Fah. compared to the long term average of 58.4 deg. Fah. The maximum mean was 65.4 deg. Fah. and the minimum mean 48.1 deg. Fah. compared to the

—Good Month For Crops

49-year averages of 67.1 deg. Fah. and 49.8 deg. Fah. respectively. A high temperature of 78 deg. Fah. was recorded on June 23, while the low of 40 deg. Fah. was recorded on the 3rd.

There was 0.57 inch of rain compared to the 49-year average of 1.13 inches. The heaviest rainfall of 0.35 inch occurred on the first day of the month and there were five days with recorded rainfall.

There was a total of 281 hours of bright sunshine, 18.8 hours more than the 49-year average. Evaporation from a free-water surface amounted to 4.58 inches compared to the 15-year average of 4.29 inches. The black Bellini plate evaporation was 933.7 c.c. compared to the six-year average of 1008.1 c.c.

June was a good month from an agricultural standpoint. Relatively cool weather has held back maturity and favored the growth of cool season crops. Exceptionally heavy hay and silage crops of excellent quality were harvested. Maturity of strawberries was delayed but a bountiful crop was being picked at the end of the month. Prospects for loganberries and apples are good.

Cadet Takes To The Air

Undertaking flying training at the Victoria Flying Club this month is LAC Tom MacKenzie of 676 Sidney Kinsmen Squadron, Royal Canadian Air Cadets.

Son of Lieut. and Mrs. J. R. MacKenzie, Royal Oak, he was the recipient of a Flying Scholarship from the Air Cadet League of Canada. LAC MacKenzie is one of six cadets from Vancouver Island selected for training this year who will be awarded their wings upon the successful completion of the course.

The flying program includes 35 hours of flight instruction, and approximately 60 hours of ground school.

POSITION OF RECREATION COMMISSION CLARIFIED

In view of a number of questions directed to the Sidney Recreation Commission over the past months, one of the commissioners has prepared this summary of the commission's past achievements and future endeavors to clarify its position in the community.

As so little seems to be known about the activities of the Sidney Recreation Commission, it was decided at our last meeting that we should attempt to give a short account of ourselves and the ways and means of furthering recreation in this area.

To begin with, there are eight voluntary members of the commission and we meet each month. We should emphasize that we are always ready and willing to receive suggestions and recommendations about recreation.

We receive a small grant from the provincial government and also $200 a year from the Sidney Village Commission. All our money is spent upon recreation of some kind for all ages.

The commission started the Girls' Drill Team some years ago, and still help them financially when necessary. We also resurrected the Sidney School Band some years ago by collecting various instruments and putting them in shape; we asked Mr. Magee to conduct this band and he has been very successful with this venture. We still offer financial assistance to the band at times.

The commission started the Dog Obedience Club, which is now a great success and self-supporting.

Proceeds Of Parish Picnic To Aid Tibetan Refugees

The Church of the Good Shepherd held its first parish picnic on Friday, July 6, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Spalding at Little Bay, South Pender Island, in aid of Tibetan refugees.

Bishop Coleman introduced Miss Sybil Conery who spoke briefly of the needs of Tibetan refugees now in Nepal and India—70,000 refugees, over half of them children, with no shelter, very little food or clothing or medical help, no hope of education or of the future without outside help.

The Save the Children Fund operates two model homes for 250 children in Simla, India. Lesly Young, the administrator, has had wide experience in India as he worked there during the days of partition and flood. His wife is the social worker and the two nurses have recently been joined by a doctor, as the children now arriving are in such desperate need of medical care.

The children in these homes receive loving care. The Tibetans are being taught child care so they will eventually be able to help themselves. Although over half of the refugees are in India, there are 20,000 in the small country of Nepal.

Last year Professor and Mrs. George Woodcock, from the University of British Columbia, visited these people and were so moved by their plight they have formed the Tibetan Refugee Aid Society. They hope to raise funds to build a Tibetan school in Nepal and bring young Tibetans to our own university where they will be educated before returning to help their people.

Miss Conery thanked all who had worked to make the picnic possible and all those who supported the parish.

In spite of the weather the picnic was a great success—over $100 was realized to be divided equally between the Save the Children Fund and the Tibetan Refugee Fund.

The children enjoyed hot dogs, ice cream, soft drinks, a big beach fire and treasure hunt. Ted Bow-neighborhood of 60 children. The school this year will run in the last two weeks of July and the first two weeks of August at Sanscha, and will keep the children active and their mothers content in the knowledge that they will be well looked after in the mornings.

Next winter we hope to start archery classes. We should also like to arrange golf lessons for the youngsters, though a suitable venue and instructor are not available at this time.

We trust that this resume will inform the people of Sidney of our endeavours to find recreation for all, in this area, and will answer the question that we hear so often, "Who are the Sidney Recreation Commission and what do they do?"

Camp At Sea Island Base

Large contingent from Sidney's 676 Air Cadet Squadron left Sidney on Sunday to attend the annual summer camp at Sea Island. In charge of the party was P.O. K. C. Cantwell.

The cadets will spend two weeks at Sea Island during which they will attend lectures on service routine and technical subjects, take training in drill and deportment and engage in physical training and sports.

The facilities at the R.C.A.F. Station, Sea Island, are made over to the cadets throughout the summer and each squadron in B.C. and Alberta sends a detachment to the camp for two weeks of the summer.

In addition to providing the cadets with a working knowledge of the services, they encourage a greater awareness of the purpose of the air cadet squadrons. In addition, no cadet who has failed to attend a summer camp is eligible for further courses or opportunities.

Summer camp is a pre-requisite for senior leaders' courses, flying scholarship and overseas exchange visits. It is also required before a cadet can gain promotion.

and friend, Nancy, Audrey Scarff and Jill Cunliffe served a delicious tea on the lawn among summer flowers. Mrs. Straker poured tea. All supplies for this picnic were donated.

The convener wishes to thank all who gave so generously of their time, labor and money to make this picnic such a success.
